SUGAR TARIFF IS SAFE FOR THE PRESENT

Democratic Leaders Declare Reduction Must Wait For All Others.

NOT READY TO CUT OFF SIXTY MILLIONS

Income Tax Legislation May Make Increase In Revenues But Action Now Doubtful.

By C. S. Albert.
(Special Bulletin Correspondence.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Apr. 23.—The question of what shall be done with sugar during the revision of the tariff is bothering the House Democratic Representative Underwood, the new chairman of the ways and means committee, declares that this subject must wait until all other reductions have been completed. He says the present revenue coming from taxation of sugar is something like $50,000,000 a year and a substitute for this sum must be found before it is appreciably lessened.
Great pressure is being brought to bear upon the ways and means committee to take up the reduction of sugar duties. Response to this demand is not yet in sight. Nothing will be done, according to Chairman Underwood, until all other features of revision are out of the way.
Income tax legislation would afford an opening for modification of the sugar schedule. It could easily be lowered, along with many others, if the revenues of the government are unexpectedly increased by $100,000,000 from a tax on incomes.

Grand Jury Is Probing Deeper

Citizens Of Hilo Will Arrive Tomorrow To Testify In School Scandal

(Special Bulletin Wireless.)
HILO, May 5.—Subpoenaed by the Federal grand jury, several prominent residents of Hilo will leave tomorrow on the Mauna Kea for Honolulu to appear before the jury and tell what they know about the scandal that has racked Hilo High School and the town itself. When the subpoenas were served, it became known that Leland S. Connors, editor of the Hawaii Herald; Stephen L. Dasha Jr., principal of Haaheo school, Hilo; Evelyn Vannatta, a schoolgirl whose name figured in the stories of rows between Mrs. Mary S. Compton and Principal Richmond; and William Campbell of Hilo, who also figured in the testimony before the Board of Public Instruction, have all been called to Honolulu to testify. A former servant in the Lewis household, whose name figured in some of the most sensational testimony, has also been subpoenaed.

One of the grand jurors took his pen in hand yesterday and expressed himself as follows on the subject of Mary, thus adding a new line of poetry to that which has figured in the Compton-Richmond case, including Connors and his kidnapping:
Mary had a harem skirt,
For suffragettes you know,
And everywhere that Mary went
That skirt did make a show.
She wore it to the school one day,
Which didn't look just right;
The teachers tried to put her out,
And then there was a fight.
The Board they tried to settle it
By making Mary hike;
But then the kids took up the quarrel,
And they began to strike.
So Mary then fixed up her skirt
And left without a frown,
To teach us Honolulu folk
As in the Rainy Town.
The teachers tried to bar her way,
They "disapproved her work";
But the truth is this—I tell you what,
They hate the harem skirt.

Federal Experts Fail To Find Cholera In Many Samples Of Manoa Water Examined

The fact that the spirochum of cholera has not been found in the samples of Manoa water examined by the Federal physicians is not considered conclusive evidence one way or the other, in the opinion of Dr. Currie. The chances of isolating the cholera spirochum are so few as to make the effort practically negative in results so far as proving the infection of the Manoa taro ponds is concerned.
Dr. Currie tells of the difficulties of isolating cholera organisms in water as follows:
"In attempting to isolate the spirochum of cholera from a large body of water, such as a stream, taro pond, etc., the chances of success are very small. In countries where cholera is common, it is very much the exception to be able to isolate the organism from water, even when such water is daily causing cases of cholera among the persons drinking it. The chief reason for this is the small number of spirochum present in proportion to the total number of other bacteria in the water, as well as the small number per unit of bulk in the water examined. Still another reason is that while suspicion may point, for example, to a certain place in a taro pond, of having infected a case with cholera five days before, by the time the sample of water is collected the cholera organism may have died out in this spot, or by its own motility, or by the action of

Monsarrat Comrade Betrays Criminal Plans

James Melville Monsarrat is to be the new District Magistrate of Honolulu.
His appointment as a successor to William B. Lymer was announced this morning by Chief Justice Robertson. Monsarrat will begin his duties on the District Court bench Monday morning, his appointment being for a full term of two years.
The appointment of Monsarrat came as an absolute surprise to the local members of the bar, his name not having been mentioned among the list of available candidates. In referring to the appointment this morning Chief Justice Robertson said:
"Mr. Monsarrat was not a candidate for the place but was highly recommended by several members of the bar. He is a man of mature years and experience and I think we are fortunate in securing his services. He knows the community thoroughly and should make a good man for the place."
Lymer resigned as District Magistrate to take a place in the firm of Thompson and Wilger.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., May 5.—John J. McNamara, secretary of the structural iron workers, and James McNamara, accused of being James B. Bryce, who dynamited the Los Angeles Times building, were today arraigned, following their indictments by the grand jury. They will plead to the murder charge on June 1. O. E. McNamagal, who has turned state's evidence, was not arraigned.

LOS ANGELES, Apr. 27.—Ortie McManigal, one of trio of arrested men, repeats in Los Angeles confessions of guilt he made in Chicago. James McNamara identified as "J. B. Bryce," indicted for blowing up Times office. Identification said to be most important link in chain proving guilt.
Labor union leaders prepare defense for three accused men.
Union men make bitter attack on Burns and McManigal, alleging McManigal in employ of great detective.
LOS ANGELES, Apr. 27.—Ortie McManigal changed his mind today after former Judge Hilton had published a denial that any of the dynamite suspects had confessed, and decided to turn state's evidence.
Word was sent to the district attorney and McManigal was taken at once across the street to the prosecutor. Present were District Attorney Fredericks, the official stenographer, Sheriff Hammell, Undersheriff Brown, Jailor Gallagher and one of the Burns detectives.
McManigal told of dynamite plots extending over a period of three years, almost all of which were successful, and of property destroyed totaling $4,000,000 in value. It took three hours for McManigal to enumerate and provide the salient features in the mammoth criminal conspiracy.
Terms Are Supplied.
He not only furnished complete testimony as to the material circumstances but also supplied the terms of the conspiracy and the motive behind its vast and hidden workings.
He accused J. J. McNamara, secretary of the structural iron workers, of being the mastermind of the plot.

WARSHIPS TO GO AND PROTECT AMERICANS

(Associated Press Cable.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., May 5.—Disquieting reports from Mexico have alarmed the government for the safety of Americans at Acapulco. Ambassador Wilson reports conditions there intolerable, the populace apparently ready to attack the "gringos." Warships will probably be sent to protect the Americans.

MEXICAN CAPITAL MAY BE BESIEGED

(Associated Press Cable.)
MEXICO CITY, Mex., May 5.—Grave fears are felt here for the capital of the Republic as the insurgents are threatening hourly to march to the city and besiege it. The American residents are much alarmed.

TOKIO, Japan, May 5.—The Anglo-Japanese commercial treaty was formally ratified today by the Imperial Japanese Diet.

GAS COMPANY TO EXPAND WITH THE CITY

Plans Extensive Additions to Plant and Big Main to Kaimuki.

NEW STOCK ISSUE IS PRACTICALLY SETTLED

Present Preferred Outstanding To Be Called In and $150,000 Put Out to Provide Funds.

Plans for the most important development of the Honolulu Gas Company ever undertaken have been made by the gas company and will be decided upon finally and a special meeting of the stockholders called for next Thursday afternoon. The plans include not only extensions of an elaborate nature in the facilities for handling the gas, but large additions to the plant and a new issue of preferred stock, the issue to be $150,000.
The new stock issue will be made to care for the costly improvements planned, the most important of which, from the standpoint of the public, is the extension of the gas system to Kaimuki by means of a huge main, and the distribution of gas in this rapidly-growing section of the city. In fact, it is the growth of Honolulu and the number of homes being built that necessitates the move on the part of the company.
New Stock Issue.
The financial arrangements, as planned are considerable. One hundred thousand dollars of preferred stock, now outstanding and entitled to an eight per cent dividend, will be called in and a new issue made, the new issue being $150,000 preferred with a six per cent cumulative dividend. The entire capitalization then will be $150,000 common and $150,000 preferred, a net increase of $50,000 over the present amount. The present holders of preferred stock will exchange their stock for the new issue, and the addition will be taken by them pro rata if they desire.
Big Holder Planned.
The plant at Iwilei will be greatly increased. An immense gas-plant—

DOES FREAR WANT ENDORSEMENTS?

Honolulu's loan commission, under the direction of which the funds for schools, roads, bridges, an armory and other public improvements are to be expended, is now up for consideration, and the Republican executive committee is preparing a list of names which will be given the committee's endorsement.
Under the loan bill, the commission is to consist of the superintendent of public works and the mayor of the city and county, together with three other persons to be named by Governor. Thus far no appointments have been made.
The Republican committee has decided upon three names, with a possible change in one endorsement, and these names will be submitted if Governor Frear wishes the endorsement of the committee. However, unless he asks the endorsement, it will not be given, said Chairman Cooper this morning.

SMUGGLER ADMITS GUILT

Albert L. Howard, second steward on the Pacific Mail liner Manchuria, entered a plea of guilty before United States Judge Clements this morning to the indictment returned by the grand jury, charging him with smuggling opium into the Territory. Howard will be up for sentence tomorrow morning, but it is intimated that he will escape with light punishment because of information that he has given to the United States authorities which throws considerable light on the opium smuggling as practised on the ships coming from the Orient.
Henry, the man who was arrested with Howard, also on the Manchuria, pleaded not guilty to an indictment and will have a jury trial.

Sells Papers On Horse-Back

Miss Oralee List and the Horse from which She Sold the Bulletin Yesterday.

In spite of the fact that Miss Oralee List wrenched her arm, which has been under the physicians' care in the States for the past year and ever since her arrival here a week ago, she had a good day yesterday, and the public showed that it was the friend of the Bulletin and Miss List by the way the second edition melted from her hands on King street.
Out on Horseback.
After using the Schacht car for three days, Miss List started out on the Bulletin horse yesterday afternoon, and it was while she was on King street with the first edition that she inadvertently used her left hand, causing a violent wrench which strained the elbow in such a manner that she was not able to use the arm any more on horseback.
She went to her hotel, bandaged the arm as well as she was able, and then came back to the Bulletin office for the second edition, with which she went to her old stand on King and Fort streets and proceeded to sell papers like hot cakes.
For the remainder of this week the Oklahoma girl will sell the Bulletin, and after that time she will take up some other work for several weeks and perhaps months.
During her stay in Honolulu Miss List has met several persons who know her in the States. C. K. Brown, now in the city, having first seen her in Syracuse, afterward in Cleveland, Denver and Spokane.

RUSSEL TALKS ON YOUNG ROOF

Charles Edward Russell is delivering a lecture on his experiences at the makai pavilion of the oung roof garden this afternoon, and began his talk soon after 2:30.
The audience gathered to hear him occupied about half the seating capacity of the room, and was deeply interested in the talk.
